Mrs Brown wants to meet with us and the other's boy's parents as soon as possible. Can you make it later this afternoon or shall I tell her tomorrow morning? Please call when you can. Love you.

Maria: Hi, Jennie. How are you doing?

Jennie: Hi, Maria! Well, so-so. I've just heard the new girl is to replace me on the cheerleading team, even though she arrived here just a week ago.

Maria: Oh! Knowing how hard you worked for that that... Anyway, listen, I've got a favour to ask. Do you think you can babysit Peter tomorrow evening? Tom has to work really late, and my mother's coming to town tomorrow, and I've promised to take her out for dinner.

Jennie: Tomorrow? Let me think. Well, I've got theatre practice till 5, then I'm free, so why not?

Maria: Great! You know how much Peter loves playing with you, I always get jealous when I see the two of you together.

Jennie: Nonsense! You and Tom are such great parents...

Maria: So that's settled, then. Now, I've booked a table for seven o'clock, so can you come round by six-six-thirty? It'll be just me and my mother, so we shouldn't be too late – I guess we'll be back by ten, ten thirty the latest.

Jennie: No problem, I'll come round straight after theatre practice.

Maria: Great! See you tomorrow, then! Oh – and you could bring Brandon, if you like – I don't mind.

Jenny: Oh, Brandon and I are no longer together, I'm afraid. I'm going out with Mike now, but I think he's got basketball practice then. I'll ask him.

And now for a bit of celebrity news. Tonight's Academy Awards ceremony proved full of surprises, making some burst into tears of joy, and others leave in bitter frustration midway through the proceedings.

First, Loaded Guns in Sierra Madre, the Western-themed romantic drama, nominated in eight categories, did not receive a single Oscar! The award for Best Actor went to Lucas Norton, star of the science-fiction epic The Sky's the Limit, and Norman Bailey, whose debut horror fantasy Dead No More already broke box-office records last weekend, walked away with the Oscar for Best Director. Obviously displeased, Warren North, who directed Loaded Guns, walked out in the middle of Bailey's thank-you speech, while Julia Robinson, nominated for Best Supporting Actress in North's movie, cried uncontrollably. That prize for best supporting actress went instead to Naomi Rixton, for her portrayal of a murderous stalker in Lethal Lust.

Disney's latest sweeping epic The Heroes of Sherwood Forest, despite its nominations in six categories, won only one Oscar for Best Soundtrack. Meanwhile, the sleeper hit Alone in Love received a total of five awards, including that for Best Actress for Sarah Rodgers-Smith.

Finally, Nina Gladston, winner of last year's Best Actress Oscar, made a surprise appearance on stage and, in a passionate speech, first praised the Academy's efforts to give due credit to black talent, and then proposed to her long-time boyfriend Bernardo Banderas. Naturally, there wasn't a dry eye left in the room afterwards!

Task Five

You will hear a text twice. Before you listen to it for the first time, you have 1 minute and 30 seconds to read the tasks to the text. While listening for the first time you are not allowed to mark your chosen answers. After you listen to it for the first time, you have 1 minute and 30 seconds to mark your chosen answers on your answer sheet. While listening to the text for a second time, you can mark your chosen answers. After you listen to the text for the second time, you have 1 minute and 30 seconds more to check or correct your answers.

Presenter: Hello, everyone. Today on our show we've got Natasha Nicholson, who is here to give us a few lesser-known tips on how to lose weight the easy way. Welcome, Natasha.

Natasha: Thank you, Angie!

Presenter: You've promised to share with our listeners some information about how they can drop a few kilos without any strict diets or strenuous exercise and I, for one, am all ears!

Natasha: OK, here goes. Now, everyone knows the basic rule of take in fewer calories, and burn more calories, so I'm not going into that. What I'll tell you is some easy, everyday things anyone can do. So:

First, after breakfast, make water your primary drink. At breakfast, go ahead and drink orange juice, but throughout the rest of the day, focus on water instead of soft drinks, which pack a lot of calories.

Next, try and walk for 45 minutes a day. I'm suggesting 45 minutes instead of the typical 30 because while 30 minutes of daily walking can prevent weight gain, exercise beyond that time results in weight loss. An extra 15 minutes of brisk walking could help you lose about 15 kilos a year with no change in diet.

Also, bring the colour blue into your life. There's a good reason there aren't many fast-food restaurants decorated in blue: The colour blue acts as an appetite suppressant. So serve dinner on blue plates, dress in blue while you eat, and put out a blue tablecloth. Avoid red, yellow, and orange in your dining areas, as they encourage eating.

Also – that's number four, I think - clean your closet of all "fat" clothes. Once you've reached your target weight, throw out or give away every piece of clothing that doesn't fit. The idea of having to buy a whole new wardrobe if you gain the weight back will motivate you to maintain your new figure.

Tip five would be to serve your dinner restaurant style, putting the food on plates, rather than family style, in bowls and on platters on the table. When your plate is empty, you're finished; no reaching for second helpings. Research shows that the less food there is in front of you, the less food you'll eat, and vice versa.

Presenter: Well, thank you, Natasha – that has been most interesting, and informative!
